OFFICE OF
ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

CONSENT FOR ACCESS AND ENTRY

The State of Oregon, the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR) and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) are conducting an assessment of possible exposures to herbicides in the Triangle Lake area of Oregon. As part of this exposure assessment, EPA is collecting drinking water and in some cases soil, produce and other vegetation samples from approximately 38 residences. We will test the samples for herbicides and other pesticides and provide residents with the results from the samples collected on their property. Your results will help you understand more about the quality of your drinking water and the produce grown on your property. These results will be used by the agencies to help determine whether residents in the Triangle Lake area are being exposed to herbicides, and at what levels.

PARTICIPANT'S STATEMENT

I give my consent and permission to the EPA sampling team to enter my property located at the address listed below to conduct the sampling activities described above.
